Re: Mahabir Mahabir v. Queens Dollar Inc., et. al.
Case No.: 19 Civ. 9395 (JPO)(RWL)

Dear Judge Lehrburger,

We are counsel for the plaintiff, and we write this correspondence pursuant to this Court's Case Management Order for a status report [Docket 30, Sec. 16]. The parties held a formal mediation with clients on September 28, 2020 but did not resolve the case. Plaintiff served written discovery requests and interrogatories on November 10th. Answers are overdue and defendants have not sought additional time to respond. During our conversation with defense counsel last week, we learned that defendants will not respond to discovery and that defense counsel may seek to withdraw from further representation of the defendants. We respectfully request a conference with the court to determine whether defendants wish to have a settlement conference with the court and whether defendants intend to respond to discovery, change counsel, or default in this matter.

Defendants have not served Rule 26 disclosures or answered any of the pending discovery requests of the plaintiff.

Thank you for your consideration of this case.

Respectfully,
/s/ Peter H. Cooper
